

Sampled Science Fiction: Digital Strategies in Contemporary Latin American Narrative

a talk by

J. Andrew Brown

Associate Professor of Spanish and Comparative Literature
Washington University in St. Louis
Author of Test Tube Envy: Science and Power in Argentine Narrative (2005)
and Cyborgs in Latin America (2010)

Friday, November 14
2:30-4:00 PM

INTS 1128

Sponsored by UCR's Science Fiction and Technoculture Studies Program, with generous co-sponsorship from the Departments of Comparative Literature, English, Ethnic Studies, and Hispanic Studies
(website: <sfts.ucr.edu>; email: <sfts@gmail.com>)